This is a list of languages by total number of speakers.

It is difficult to define what constitutes a language as opposed to a dialect. For example, Chinese and Arabic are sometimes considered single languages, but each includes several mutually unintelligible varieties, and so they are sometimes considered language families instead. Conversely, colloquial registers of Hindi and Urdu are almost completely mutually intelligible, and are sometimes classified as one language, Hindustani. Such rankings should be used with caution, because it is not possible to devise a coherent set of linguistic criteria for distinguishing languages in a dialect continuum.[1]

There is no single criterion for how much knowledge is sufficient to be counted as a second-language speaker. For example, English has about 450 million native speakers but, depending on the criterion chosen, can be said to have as many as two billion speakers.[2]

There are also difficulties in obtaining reliable counts of speakers, which vary over time because of population change and language shift. In some areas, there is no reliable census data, the data is not current, or the census may not record languages spoken, or record them ambiguously. Sometimes speaker populations are exaggerated for political reasons, or speakers of minority languages may be underreported in favor of a national language.[3]

Ethnologue (2024) [edit]

The

following languages are listed as having 45 million or more total speakers in the 26th edition of Ethnologue published in 2024.[4] Entries identified by Ethnologue as macrolanguages (such as Arabic, Persian, Malay, Pashto, Sindhi, and Chinese, encompassing all their respective varieties) are not included in this section.

CIA

World Factbook (2024) [edit]

The World Factbook, produced by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), estimates the ten most spoken languages (L1 + L2) in 2024 as follows:[46]

João Paulo confía y se enfoque en Santos, a pesar de la fuerte competencia potencial

Elegido como el mejor del Paulistão, el atleta cometió un penal en la final contra Palmeiras.

João Paulo, el portero titular del Santos al inicio de la temporada, mantiene la moral en el club. Esto ocurre a pesar de algunas críticas de los aficionados, especialmente después del penal a Endrick en la final del Paulistão contra Palmeiras. Sin embargo, es probable que enfrente una competencia más fuerte en el futuro cercano.

Según una información exclusiva de Lance!, por el momento, el Peixe no está en una búsqueda profunda para la contratación de otro portero. El club ve que tiene dos buenos atletas para la posición: el propio João Paulo y Gabriel Brazão.

João Paulo ha sido titular en todos los juegos del Santos, ha sido elegido el mejor portero del Paulistão y ha figurado en el once ideal del campeonato de la Federación Paulista de Fútbol (FPF). Brazão llegó esta temporada y, debido a una prohibición de transferencia, no pudo ser alineado para algunos partidos.

El entrenador Fábio Carille cuenta con aproximadamente dos semanas para decidir el equipo que disputará la Série B, después de haber tenido varias muestras en el Estadual. El Alvinegro debutará en el torneo entre los días 19 y 21 de abril, contra el Paysandu, en la Vila Belmiro.

A pesar de las críticas de parte de la afición del Santos, las personas cercanas a João Paulo garantizan que mantiene el enfoque en el club. Al inicio del año, el principal deseo del portero fue permanecer en el Peixe, pese al descenso a la Série B y al interés de clubes brasileños en contratarlo.

Además, una supuesta búsqueda del Alvinegro de otro jugador de la posición no inmuta al atleta. A finales de 2024, con João Paulo ya garantizado en la plantilla, el Santos intentó contratar a Marcelo Grohe y Tadeu, antes de acordar con Gabriel Brazão.
