Pelé's Mother, Celeste Arantes, Passes Away at 101

21/06/2024 13h34 · Atualizado 21/06/2024

Celeste Arantes, the mother of Edson Arantes do Nascimento, better known as Pelé, passed away at 101 years old, this Friday (21), in Santos, on the coast of São Paulo. The queen-mother was a miner from Três Corações and had three children: Pelé, Jair (Zoca) and the youngest, Maria Lúcia, responsible for her care.

The previsões esportivas found out that Celeste had been hospitalized for 8 days, but the cause of death has not been informed yet.

All of Dona Celeste's children were fruits of her relationship with João Ramos do Nascimento, known as Dondinho, whom she was married to until 1996, the year he passed away.

Just before Pelé passed away, at the age of 82, he paid tribute to his mother's 100th birthday, on November 20, 2024, the day the World Cup in Qatar opened.

Pelé's Post on Social Media

"From a young age, she taught me the value of love and peace. I have more than a hundred reasons to thank her for being my mother. I share these photos with you, with much emotion, celebrating this day. Thank you for all the days by her side, mother", Pelé wrote, at the time, on social media.

Dona Celeste Opposed Pelé's Football Career

Despite passing through Atlético/MG, Hecacaré, from Lorena (SP), Vasco de São Lourenço (MG), and Bauru Atlético Clube, Pelé's father's career was not long due to injuries. And for that same reason, because she did not believe that football would give him a future, Dona Celeste was resistant to seeing her son in the world of the ball, even though she knew of his innate vocation for playing in the streets. She even prevented Bangu, from Rio de Janeiro, from hiring him.

To convince her, it took a lot of work from Dondinho and, even more so, from Waldemar de Brito - a famous forward in the 1930s and 1940s, responsible for taking him to Santos in 1956.

The family only left Bauru, a city in the Interior of São Paulo, to live in Santos eight years later, in 1964.

On his social networks, Pelé posted a dedication and thanked "Dona Celeste" for the teachings throughout her life.

Dona Celeste's Wish for Pelé

Dona Celeste's wish was always for Pelé, or better Dico, to be a good son and a good person, with a basic and fundamental advice: to have a lot of faith. A feeling that the King of Football carried in his 82 years and will take with him forever in this farewell to eternity.

"He used to say that it wasn't easy to be away, he suffered from homesickness for the family. But he should continue to achieve his goal of winning. He didn't want to return. My heart was tight, but I had to support him", Dona Celeste said in an interview for A Tribuna in 2012, obtained through her granddaughter Danielle.
