The poker boom in the early 200s saw immense growth in televised poker such as the Late Night Poker, the Poker Million and the World Poker Tour. The European Poker Tour (EPT) was created by John Duthie, winner of the inaugural Poker Million.

EPT Season 1 (2004-05)

The very first EPT was held in Barcelona and was won by Alexander Stevic for €80,000. Stevic would go on to finish third in the inaugural season's Grand Final held at the Monte Carlo Bay Hotel & Resort for €178,000.

The Grand Final was won by the Netherlands' Rob Hollink for €635,000.

There

were seven events in the inaugural season with two British and two Dutch players grabbing titles.

(2005-06)

The second season of the EPT also had seven events, with the only change being a switch from Baden to Vienna. Patrik Antonius won the new EPT Baden only two months after winning the Scandinavian Poker Championships.

Meanwhile, there were wins for both Mark Teltscher and Mads Andersen in their "home" EPTs in London and Copenhagen respectively.

The big names were out in force on Season 4 of the European Poker Tour, with Mike McDonald (pictured), Jason Mercier and Bertrand "ElkY" Grospellier bagging titles. Grospellier won his EPT title at the inaugural PokerStars Caribbean Adventure (PCA) for a coolR$2,000,000.

This season was book-ended by two other seven-figure first prizes with Sander Lylloff winning the season-opening EPT Barcelona (denying Mark Teltscher a second EPT title heads-up), and Glen Chorny winning over €2m in the EPT Grand Final in Monte Carlo.

EPT Season 5 (2008-09)

There was no let-up from the EPT with another 11-event schedule for the fifth season. The EPT record of 1,136 set at the PCA in Season 4 was broken not just by the same event in Season 5, but also by EPT Sanremo.

By Season 6, the EPT had grown to include 13 destinations, the most stops in its history. Many players who would go on to become EPT regulars won titles in Season 6, including Jake Cody and Liv Boeree who would enjoy successful spells as PokerStars Team Pros.

In March 2010, future WSOPE Main Event winner Kevin MacPhee won the EPT Berlin Main Event. However, the festival is notable for the tournament venue being robbed by a group of armed men in the middle of the tournament. Play was suspended for several hours and two weeks later, a suspect surrendered to German authorities.

Season 7

of the EPT would start just like previous seasons, but by the end of the season, the poker world would be rocked by the events of Black Friday in April 2011.

Galen Hall

would win the largest PCA Main Event ever for R$2.3 million, defeating 1,560 players in the process. Future Triple Crown winner Robert Romanello won his EPT title in Season 7 at EPT Prague, while there were three other British champions in the shape of Toby Lewis, David Vamplew and Rupert Elder.

EPT Season 8 (2011-12)

Season 8 was the final season with 13 stops on the calendar. It was also the only time the series visited Greece for EPT Loutraki, and that Campione held an EPT festival.

Davidi Kitai wins EPT

Berlin Main Event

Three Danes picked up EPT honours in as many festivals as Mickey Petersen, Frederik Jensen and Jannick Wrang all won EPT Main Events. This was followed by Davidi Kitai's victory at EPT Berlin, the first by a Belgian on the European Poker Tour. This also marked the only occasion that a player has completed poker's Triple Crown by winning an EPT title. He became the fifth winner of poker's triple crown.

EPT Season 9 (2012-13)

By 2012, the EPT was beginning to focus on several core stops as part of the tour. This included Barcelona as the season-opener, Prague and the PCA straddling the turn of the year, and the Grand Final in Monte Carlo rounding out the year.

Steve O'Dwyer wins EPT Grand Final Main Event

Mikalai Pobal and Dimitar

Danchev won the first EPT titles for Belarus and Bulgaria respectively, while Steve O'Dwyer won the EPT Grand Final Main Event for €1.2m. This victory, along with several other major scores, puts him at the top of the EPT all-time money list with almost R$12.5 million in earnings.

EPT Season 10 (2013-14)

Season 10 of the European

Poker tour was a historic one, with Victoria Coren-Mitchell sensationally clinching victory at EPT Sanremo to become the first two-time EPT champion. Coren-Mitchell followed up her victory at EPT London in Season 3 with another victory, defeating Giacomo Fundaro heads-up to win €376,100.

Like in previous seasons, several EPT regulars finally got their hands on Main Event glory including Robin Ylitalo and Dominik Panka, with Sotirios Koutoupas becoming the first Greek EPT winner.

EPT Season 11 (2014-15)

Up until 2024, Spain had yet to win

an EPT Main Event. That all changed with the EPT Grand Final as Adrian Mateos secured victory just two years after winning the World Series of Poker Europe (WSOPE) Main Event at just 19 years old.

The EPT also visited Malta for the very first time, with Jean Montury securing victory. This was also the last time the EPT visited London and Deauville, which between them held 20 EPT festivals.

EPT Season 12 (2024-16)

The European Poker Tour returned to Dublin for the first time since Season 5, with young Polish phenom Dzmitry Urbanovich (pictured) clinching victory.

PokerStars Championship

In 2024, PokerStars announced it was to overhaul its live tournament schedule. As a result, the European Poker Tour was rebranded as the PokerStars Championship.

There were seven PokerStars Championship

festivals:

Bahamas

Panama

Macau

Monte Carlo

Sochi

Barcelona

Prague

The PokerStars

Championship was discontinued after one season, with the EPT brand returning once more.

EPT Season 14 (2024)

The EPT returned in 2024 with five stops including the first trip to Russia, with a visit to Casino Sochi. Arsenii Karmatchkii became only the fourth Russian to win an EPT title, before the tour returned to stops in Monte Carlo, Barcelona and Prague.

EPT Season 15 (2024)

Season 15 of the European Poker Tour was unusual, in that it held the same five stops as the previous year. This is the first time the tour had done this, and as a result it saw increased Main Event numbers in three of the five festivals.

That included the 2024 EPT Barcelona Main Event with a staggering 1,988 entries - almost as many entries as the inaugural EPT season attracted. The event was won by Sweden's Simon Brandstrom for almost €1.3 million.

Then, at EPT Prague, Mikalai Pobal became the second two-time winner on the EPT after defeating 1,154 players to win the EPT Prague Main Event.

EPT Season 16
(2024)

In 2024, there was only one live European Poker Tour festival held as a result of the coronavirus pandemic. Ruslan Bogdanov took down the EPT Sochi Main Event title for R$175,743 after a heads-up deal with Viktor Tkachenko.

EPT Season 18 (2024)

Following the coronavirus pandemic's end, EPT Season 18 resumed to normality, with five stops occurring throughout 2024. There were two stops in Prague, Czech Republic, and the tour returned to London, England, for the first time in eight years. The EPT also visited regular destinations, such as Monte Carlo and Barcelona.

The EPT returned with a bang, with several events breaking attendance and prize pool records throughout the year. The 2024 EPT Barcelona Main Event became the biggest of all time, with 2,294 entries recorded. Italy's Guiliano Bendinelli was the victor in that tournament and pocketed the €1,491,133 allocated for first place.

Ex-empelado de la organización de Donald Trump antes de su presidencia afirma que hizo bromas sobre "hornos de nazi" en presencia de ejecutivos judíos

Una exempleada anterior de la organización de Donald Trump antes de su presidencia ha afirmado públicamente que una vez hizo bromas sobre "hornos de nazi" mientras estaban presentes ejecutivos judíos.

Barbara Res, ingeniera principal en la construcción de Trump Tower y autora de un memorias, "Tower of Lies", sobre sus casi dos décadas trabajando para el ex presidente, le dijo a MSNBC el domingo que su ex jefe solía hacer "comentarios ridículos".

"Acabábamos de contratar a un gerente residencial, un tipo alemán", dijo Res. "Y Donald [Trump] estaba jactándose frente a nosotros, ejecutivos, sobre lo grande que era y cómo era un caballero y cómo era tan pulcro y limpio. Y miró a unos ejecutivos nuestros que suceden ser judíos, y dijo: 'Cuidado con este tipo: recuerda los hornos', ¿sabes?, y luego sonrió".

"Todos quedamos impactados", continuó. "No podía creer que lo hubiera dicho. Pero estaba bromeando sobre los hornos nazis y matar a la gente, y así es como era".

Los nazis en Alemania mataron sistemáticamente a más de 6 millones de judíos durante el Holocausto y la segunda guerra mundial, y quemaron los cuerpos de muchos en hornos en campos de concentración.

La historia de Res del domingo se produjo cuando ambos partidos intentan atraer el voto judío en las elecciones de noviembre, que se espera que sean una revancha entre Trump y Joe Biden. Ese voto puede estar en juego sobre la forma en que la Casa Blanca de Biden maneja la guerra de Israel contra Hamas en Gaza.

Trump ha argumentado que los judíos estadounidenses que votan por los demócratas odian tanto a Israel como al judaísmo, diciendo que él y su partido republicano están mejor equipados para ayudar a poner fin a la guerra de Gaza.

Res, que ha sido crítica con el trato de Trump a las mujeres en el pasado, dijo que el "abrazo de la religión" de Trump es "absoluta tontería". No especificó, pero en el centro de la acusación penal reciente que recientemente condujo a la condena de Trump en 34 delitos figuran los pagos de soborno a Stormy Daniels, un actor de cine para adultos que afirmó un romance adúltero con Trump al principio de su matrimonio con Melania Trump.

Consejo de Res a Biden antes del debate programado

Res ofreció consejos a Biden antes de su debate televisado con Trump, programado para el jueves.

"Ojalá [Biden] lo provocara y lo enloqueciera, porque cuando se vuelve loco, realmente está loco", dijo Res.

La aparición de Res en MSNBC se produjo después de que Trump celebrara un mitin de campaña el fin de semana en Filadelfia. Ella recordó la broma nazi que Trump alguna vez contó en parte porque repitió en el mitin una situación hipotética sobre un bote eléctrico que se hunde bajo el peso de sus baterías y electrocuta a los pasajeros, quienes luego son rodeados por un tiburón.
