ELeague Genre Esports Presented 1 by Richard Lewis (journalist) Original language English Production Production locations Atlanta, Georgia, US Production company Turner Sports Release Original network 1 TBS Original release May 24, 2016 ()

ELeague, shortened as EL, and stylized as LEAGUE is an esports league and 1 American television show that airs on TBS.

It was announced in September 2015 as a partnership between Turner Broadcasting and talent 1 agency WME/IMG.

[3] The name "ELeague" was officially unveiled later that year.[4]

Launched with Counter-Strike: Global Offensive in May 2016, the league 1 featured 24 teams from across the world to compete in two 10-week league seasons annually,[3] which includes a regular season, 1 playoffs, and a championship.

[5] ELeague currently has no plans to lock teams into exclusivity, unlike the Championship Gaming Series, a 1 previous attempt to bring professional video games to television in the United States.

[3] Matches are broadcast live on TBS every 1 Monday night.[6]

ELeague later shortened the number of teams in the tournament to sixteen for CS:GO.

The third season of ELeague featured 1 the popular fighting game Street Fighter.

EL also featured side events, such as the Overwatch Open and the Rocket League Cup.

The 1 addition of esports programming was of part of a plan to revamp original programming for TBS.

[7] The broadcast is simultaneously 1 available online through Twitch and YouTube, with additional content also being streamed.

[8][9] Matches are played at the Turner Studios facility 1 in Atlanta.

[10][11]Season 1 [edit]

ELeague Season 1 began on May 24, 2016.

Twenty-four teams were divided into six groups.

After each 1 team in a group plays the other three teams in its group twice, the teams are placed into a four-team, 1 single-elimination bracket, with seeding based on the results of the group results.

The winner of the group bracket moves on to 1 the Playoffs and the runner-up moves on to the Last Chance Qualifier bracket.

In addition, the top two third-place teams move 1 on to the Last Chance Qualifier bracket.

The Last Chance Qualifier teams play in an eight-team, single-elimination bracket, in which two 1 teams move on to the Playoffs bracket.

The Playoffs consisted of the six group winners-Team EnVyUs, Fnatic, Natus Vincere, Cloud9, Astralis, 1 and Ninjas in Pyjamas-and the two teams out of the Last Chance Qualifier-mousesports and Virtus.pro.

The finals took place on July 1 30, 2016.

It headed Fnatic and Virtus.

pro, in which Virtus.

pro won 2–0, and the inaugural ELeague season.

Luminosity Gaming and SK Gaming 1 were both disqualified from ELeague.

[12] The Luminosity players, coach, and manager had all signed with SK to play with the 1 team in the future prior to joining Luminosity.

After weeks of contract disputes, Luminosity and SK settled to an agreement, resulting 1 in the Brazilians joining SK Gaming and the Danish players forming a new team, Team X.

[13][14] ELeague saw this as 1 a promotional campaign for the teams, thus, disqualifying both teams from the tournament.

It was later reported that at least five 1 ELeague participants-Cloud9, Echo Fox, NRG Esports, Team Liquid, and Team SoloMid-petitioned to prevent the current SK Gaming from inheriting Luminosity's 1 spot in the Playoffs.

[15] SK Gaming's Epiácio "TACO" de Melo alleged that his team was not notified of the ruling 1 before it was publicly announced.

[16]Season 2 [edit]

At the end of the season 1 finals, analyst Richard Lewis announced 1 that the second season of ELeague would air on October 7, 2016.

ELeague confirmed that the second season will once again 1 use CS:GO.[17]

The second season strayed away from the first season's format.

Instead, it reflected the format of that of a Valve-sponsored 1 CS:GO major, such as MLG Columbus 2016 or ESL One Cologne 2016.

The season will feature open and closed qualifiers, double 1 elimination group stages, and-like last season-a Playoffs.

The second season began on October 21, 2016.

The eight teams in the playoffs were 1 the group winners-mousesports, Virtus.

pro, Astralis, and Team Dignitas-and the group runners-up-FaZe Clan, Ninjas in Pyjamas, SK Gaming, and OpTic Gaming.

The 1 finals pitted Astralis, which defeated Ninjas in Pyjamas and SK Gaming, and OpTic Gaming, which defeated mousesports and FaZe Clan.

In 1 the end, OpTic Gaming defeated Astralis, two games to one, to win season two of ELeague.

Season 3 – ELeague Street 1 Fighter V Invitational [edit]

For the third season, ELeague invited thirty-two players from around the world to compete in 1 this tournament.

Sixteen of the players were invited based on their 2016 Capcom Pro Tour results and the other sixteen received 1 invites from Capcom.

[18] The 32 players will advance to the regular season and then eight players will advance to the 1 playoffs.

Season 4 – ELeague CS:GO Premier [edit]

The fourth season of ELeague returned to competitive play in Counter-Strike: Global 1 Offensive.

Initially, twelve teams were invited to the competition based on previous ELeague results. Another four teams would have to qualify in 1 their respective regional qualifiers. However, Season 2 champion OpTic Gaming only kept one of its five players, as stanislaw moved to 1 Team Liquid shortly after winning the Season 2 title, tarik and RUSH were transferred to Cloud9, and NAF was moved 1 to the backup position and then later joined Renegades, leaving mixwell as the only remaining member of the squad.

OpTic later 1 brought in four Europeans to fill up its lineup.

Replacing the majority of the lineup would thus disqualify the team based 1 on the ELeague ruleset.

A third team from the Americas qualifier, which would later be Renegades, took its spot in the 1 tournament.

The playoffs pitted the group winners-FaZe Clan, North, Cloud9, and Astralis-and the group runners-up-G2 Esports, Fnatic, Team EnVyUs, and Heroic.

Astralis 1 defeated Fnatic and Cloud9 to reach the finals and FaZe Clan defeated Team EnVyUs and North on its path to 1 the finals.

Astralis kept its same lineup as it had when it won the ELeague Major 2017 while FaZe Clan brought 1 in its new superteam and had not lost a map on LAN since losing to Gambit Esports at DreamHack Masters 1 Malmö 2017.

[19] FaZe Clan defeated Astralis 2–0 after a huge comeback from 12–3 on the first map and dominated the 1 second map to take home the fourth rendition of ELeague.

Reality TV Series – ELEAGUE The Challenger: Street Fighter V [1 edit]

In 2018, ELeague announced their first-ever reality TV series, ELEAGUE The Challenger: Street Fighter V.

The series featured seven invited 1 personalities from the fighting game scene as they lived together in one house and competed against each other for a 1 single prize.

[20] The series showcased the contestants playing against each other in the Capcom fighting game Street Fighter V, as 1 well as the drama and interaction between them as they spent their days living under one roof.

It premiered on April 1 20, 2018, and consisted of five episodes.

The people invited to appear as contestants in the show included LowTierGod, Gllty and 1 RobTV.

[21] Rapper Lupe Fiasco also appeared on the show as a special guest.

ELeague CS:GO Premier 2018 [edit]

In the 1 last day of the ELeague Major: Boston 2018, host Richard Lewis announced that a new Premier season of ELeague would 1 debut on July 21, 2018.[22]

Counter-Strike Majors [edit]

ELeague Major 2017 [edit]

On September 27, 2016, Valve announced the 1 tenth major in CS:GO and the first major of 2017: the ELeague Major 2017, also known as ELeague Atlanta 2017.

[23] 1 Like other majors, the top eight teams from the last major, ESL One Cologne 2016, will be invited to the 1 major and eight other teams will play through a qualifier.

ELeague Major 2017 took place from January 22 to 29, making 1 it the longest-running major with eight days.

Previous majors lasted three to six days.[citation needed]

Like previous majors, eight teams received an 1 automatic bid based on their top eight placement at the previous major, ESL One Cologne 2016, and another eight teams 1 qualify through the Major Qualifier.

The group stage format differed completely from previous majors, as the major would use a 16-team 1 Swiss system rather than the four group GSL system.

The top eight teams in this major were Natus Vincere, Virtus.

pro, Astralis, 1 and North, FaZe Clan, Fnatic, SK Gaming, and Gambit Gaming, who were called Legends by making the top eight.

In the 1 quarterfinals, Astralis defeated Natus Vincere, Fnatic defeated Gambit Gaming, Virtus. pro defeated North, and SK Gaming defeated FaZe Clan.

In the semifinals, 1 Astralis defeated Fnatic after a close game one and a clean game two. Virtus pro scraped by a somewhat crippled SK Gaming 1 in a close 2–0 set.

The finals pitted Astralis, who was in its first major championships, and Virtus.

pro, who was in 1 its second and had one major title under its belt.

In a close and intense three-game set, Astralis defeated Virtus.

pro-12–16, 16–14, 1 16–14-to win its first-ever major title.

Markus "Kjaerbye" Kjærbye was named the MVP of the major.

ELeague Major: Boston 2018 [edit 1]

On October 5, 2017, Valve announced that ELeague would host the first major of 2018 and the twelfth major in 1 CS:GO history: ELeague Major: Boston 2018.

Unlike past majors, Boston major featured 24 teams as Valve expanded the format to include 1 what was formerly known as "The Major Qualifier", now rebranded as "The New Challengers Stage".

[24] This major was the first 1 in CS:GO major tournaments' history to take place in two different cities.

The group stage took place in Turner Studios, where 1 all ELeague season matches were played, in Atlanta from January 19 to 22.

The playoffs took place in Boston from January 1 26 to 28 at the Agganis Arena in Boston University.[25][26][27]

Only two Legends made the playoffs, as SK Gaming and Fnatic 1 made it into the top eight.

New Legends were G2 Esports, FaZe Clan, Natus Vincere, Quantum Bellator Fire, mousesports, and Cloud9.

The 1 grand finals put the pressure on the tournament favorites FaZe Clan, which defeated mousesports and Natus Vincere, and the dark 1 horse Cloud9, which upset G2 Esports and SK Gaming.

In what was being called one of the best series of all 1 time in Global Offensive, Cloud9 upset FaZe Clan-14–16, 16–10, 22–19-to take home the Boston 2018 major.

In addition, Cloud9 became the 1 first ever North American team to win a major title.

Other events [edit]

Overwatch Open [edit]

In July 2016, 1 ELeague announced the first Overwatch Open, starting in August 2016, with a total prize pool of $300,000.

Sixteen teams took part 1 in the main tournament, eight from North America and eight from Europe, and many more took part in the qualifier 1 for the main tournament.

The winners of each continent faced off in the ELeague Arena.

[28] The tournament took place between August 1 1 and September 30, 2016.

In North America, the final four teams were Team EnVyUs, Cloud9, Fnatic, and NRG Esports.

EnVyUs defeated 1 Fnatic 3–1 in the North American final.

In Europe, the final four teams were Ninjas in Pyjamas, Misfits, Rogue, and FaZe 1 Clan.

Misfits defeated Rogue 3–2 in the Europe finals.

In the grand finals, Misfits defeated EnVyUs three games to one to take 1 home one third of the prize pool.[29][30]

Injustice 2 World Championship [edit]

ELeague hosted the Injustice 2 World Championships that 1 started on October 27, 2017, and will end on November 10, 2017.

Sixteen players qualified for the tournament and competed for 1 US$250,000.[31][32][33]
