When you are a chipleader of a tournament, you have a lot of opportunities to put pressure on weak or short players, which is a big advantage for the game. But a large number of players forget that you can quickly lose a lot of chips when you play super aggressive and very much expand the range of your hands. If you have an advantage, you need to be able to implement it correctly. When you are a leader, you have done a very important part to win and then you need to properly analyze the players against whom you are comfortable playing and find all the weak points, it is impossible to constantly push and take all the chips.. Very short players risk nothing and start playing in a crazy way when it's all or nothing.. I think it is right not to enter into a confrontation, but it is not necessary to go into a full passive. It is necessary to show aggression, but carefully and very carefully choose the moment for this. I think you forgot about that..

When the bubble comes, the game should be special! If you are a chipleader, it is almost impossible to get out of the tournament, but you did it... No situation can justify you when you call on all the chips.. If you made a good pot before the prizes, sit still and wait for the money, do not play stupid hands or check the players ' abilities.. Bubble is not for this!
