Gonzalo Garcia Pelayo, from

Spain, noticed that certain numbers appeared to come up more often on 5 the roulette wheels and so made it his mission to find out why.

Dubbed the King of the roulette wheel, now 5 75, he set about watching and recording as many spins as possible at his local casino, the Casino Gran Madrid, 5 over several months.

Determined to beat the game he realised that each roulette table had slight imperfections, and no matter how 5 small it threw up certain numbers that could be predicted by the player.

He used his computer to complete an in-depth 5 analysis of the results which lead to the high roller creaming over £1.6million from casinos around the world.

The dad-of-five also 5 got his kids, Ivan and Vanessa, to help carry out his master plan and sent them to other casinos to 5 record data on the roulette wheels.

But when the venues noticed the family raking in the cash, they grew suspicious and 5 even took Gonzalo to court.

But in another stroke of luck, the courts ruled that his method of predicting results was 5 completely legal and that he was using the data to make an educated guess.

In an interview, Gonzalo said: "I like 5 tricking casinos because they are like the enemy.

"...Myself and casinos are enemies- it's not like we are friends when we 5 finish. When we finish we are still enemies.

"They are very pretentious and ignorant."

He added: "I estimate that as a normal 5 player I win once every three days.

"If this player is a bit lucky, he could win two or three times 5 which would put him on top.

"What happens is that after, there will be another one who will have bad luck 5 and not win once every three days, win once every five days- which already is a huge advantage for the 5 casino.

"But if it's a local small casino, it is possible for the casino to lose that month."

When asked how he 5 managed to work out the magical formula, he said: "Basically it was about analysing the limits of luck.

"I think this

5 was the fundamental idea, not only for the casino but for all my life- that luck has its limits.

"And I 5 think this was a complete revelation- good and bad.

"It's very important- I know it's a bit philosophical but everything has 5 its limitations and so does luck.

"A very quick example: Toss a coin 100 times, heads or tails. It makes sense 5 to get about 50-50.

"Then luck affects the result and in cases we might get 52-48 or 55-45."

"It is practically impossible 5 to get more than what you want- let's assume you want heads 65 time."

"There's a limit of luck- but it's 5 also impossible to get less than what you want."

FAMILY BUSINESS

Born in Madrid in 1947, Gonzalo's military father died when he 5 was just five and the family moved to Seville.

It was here that he first showed an interest in music and 5 began working in a nightclub and at a radio station.

He

went on to study music and film and rubbed shoulders 5 with the stars but was still struggling to earn enough cash to raise his family.

After visiting his local casino he

5 noticed that some winning numbers came up more often than others - he set about finding out why.

He noticed slight 5 differences in the pocket sizes, and the wheel's gears, and spotted unlevel floors which could all affect the spin.

He studied 5 the Casino Gran

Madrid's roulette tables for months, noting down each and every win - but not placing any wagers.

After 5 recording 30,000 results, it revealed that some numbers could come up as often as every 28 throws.

He then put all 5 of his collected data into his computer for analysis meaning he could predict the outcome of every roulette he played.

The

5 gambling fanatic realised that the system didn't mean the player would win every time but gave them a 6 percent 5 advantage and meant they could beat the house over a long run.

To cover his losses, he initially had to bankroll 5 the scheme by selling the rights to one of his documentaries - but when the money started rolling in he 5 no longer needed to.

Gonzalo was determined to try his method elsewhere and recruited his eldest son, Ivan, and eldest daughter, 5 Vanessa, to collect results from other casinos across Madrid.

In 1991, the trio began playing, and less than a year later 5 they won £620,000.

Eventually, the team scooped £1.6million in winnings from Las Vegas, Australia, Denmark, Holland and Austria when they were 5 banned from Spain and forced to play abroad.

They would disguise their accents to try and blend into the tourists but 5 staff began to notice their suspicious behaviour.

6 The incredible story was made into a film after the family won over 5 £1.6million with the legal scheme

6 In the 2012 film

based on the family's story, they infiltrate casinos to watch as 5 many roulette spins as possible

In 2004, after being taken to court by the Casino de Madrid a judge ruled that 5 the family were not cheaters and had used fair methods to guess the outcome of the spins.

After a ten-year court 5 battle, Gonzalo cleared his name and was able to enter Madrid casinos once more.

But despite the ruling, he refused to 5 go back and instead would sue the venue for £800,000 in lost earnings.

After several years he won and the gambling 5 operator was forced to pay up for the 'emotional distress' caused.

During his years in exile from the Spanish casinos, he 5 wrote a book in 2003, The Fabulous Story of Pelayos, about his family's legal method to win big.

In fact, the 5 family's story was even made into a film in 2012, 'Winning Streak' starring actors Daniel Bruhl and Lluís Homar.

Now at 5 the age of 75, he focuses on making movies and has produced 17 films as well as producing music.

But says 5 he now prefers a flutter on the horses in the UK and is currently working on a system that would 5 allow him to lose just one race a year.

He

told Vice: "I like it and it amuses me. When I 5 don't have much to do, I spend a lot of my time with it.

"...I have just finished a year of 5 horse racing with the current system, and now I am closing the exercise.

"There have been 11,500 races, we have won 5 9 months and lost 3 and the goal is to only lose one."

Last week, the Sun reported on a £260,000 5 bet that is being branded the biggest scandal in poker history.

Newcomer

player Robbi Jade Lew, 35, beat regular Garrett Adelstein 5 in a game by going all in on a bad hand in a Los Angeles casino.

Her move left viewers stunned 5 as Garrett accused her of using a vibrator to cheat.

The casino has launched an investigation into the claims and Lew 5 gave Garrett back £120,000 following the accusations.
