What sou Joe Municipality in Southeast, Brazil Itaguaí in 1970

Itaguaí (Portuguese pronunciation: [itgwai]) is a municipality located in the Brazilian state of Rio de Janeiro and contains several important iron ore loading ports of the world including Ilha Guaíba.[3] Its population was 134,819 in 2024 and its area is 273 km². [4] The city was founded in 1688 and lies midway between Rio de Janeiro and Angra dos Reis. [5]

Itaguaí is located approximately 75 km west of the city of Rio de Janeiro on the road to Santos (SP). It is located between the shore of Sepetiba Bay and the Atlantic Rainforest. [6]

Itaguaí and the region around it contain some of the largest ore exporting ports in Brazil. [7][8] It also serves also as dormitory town for workers of the industrial western zone (Zona Oeste) of Rio de Janeiro. It is the seat of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Itaguaí.

Port of Itaguaí (Sepetiba / Guaíba island) [edit]

The Port of Itaguaí was opened as a deepwater port in 1982, primarily to export alumina and other minerals found in the Minas Gerais region. It includes ports of Itaguaí, Sepetiba and Guaíba island. [9][10] The port of Sepetiba is located in the port of Itaguaí. [11] As of August 2024, the port accommodates large bulk carriers (170,000 deadweight). [12] The Port of Sepetiba is further divided into two administrative regions - Sepetiba Bay and Sepetiba terminal. [13]

The Port of Guaíba island (also known as Ilha Guaíba terminal), [14][15] located close by has separate terminals for exporting mineral ores, but is privately owned by the mining company Vale and comes under the authority of the Port of Itaguaí (Rio de Janeiro). [16] Guaíba consists of deep water berths for loading the largest bulk carriers in the world, but has no residents and no road connections. [17] Iron ore reaches the terminal through a railway bridge that connects the island to the mainland, and further, to the Vale mines in Minas Gerais. [18] In March 2024, the port, which exports 40 million tonnes of iron ore each year, was closed by the local municipality due to excessive pollution and after the Brumadinho disaster in another mine in Brazil. [19] The closure was short though, as a court injunction was granted to Vale a day later and the port resumed operations. [20]
