Rafael Nadal Pode Estar no seu Último French Open

It could be the last dance of the "King of Clay".

In his potentially last appearance at the French Open, Rafael Nadal will face the number 4 in the world, Alexander Zverev, in the first round of the tournament on Monday.

Considered the greatest clay court player of all time, the 37-year-old Nadal has struggled with injuries in the last three seasons and said last year that he hoped 2024 would be his last season on the ATP Tour.

Nadal and Zverev are currently scheduled as the third match of the day at the Court Philippe Chatrier - the main court of Roland Garros - and the match is scheduled to start at 8:30 AM ET, according to the ATP Tour.

US spectators will be able to watch the full match on Tennis Channel. NBC and the streaming service Peacock will also cover the French Open on Tuesday at 11:00 AM ET.

European spectators can follow the action on Eurosport, which, like Warner Bros. Discovery, is the channel's owner.

Nadal won the Roland Garros 14 times - the most of any player in the history of the tournament - and has a record of 112-3 in the tournament.

"You win five times, it's a lot", he recently said to the great tennis player Boris Becker. "You win ten times, it's impossible. Nadal won 14 times. I don't know of any other record in any other sport that is equal to this."

Currently blocking his path to an incredible 15th title, however, is the ex-number 2 in the world, Zverev, widely considered one of the favorites to win the Paris Open.

The German is a proficient clay court player and has just won his sixth Masters 1000 title in Rome at the start of this month. However, he has struggled against Nadal in the past, with a record of 3-7 against the Spaniard. The last match between the two was in the semifinals of the French Open in 2024, where Zverev suffered an injury to his ankle that kept him out for the rest of the year.

Despite the speculation that this could be Nadal's last French Open, he continues to circulate the speculation that this could be his last time at the tournament.

aparecerá no Roland Garros como jogador ativo, o campeão de 22 vezes do Grand Slam individual disse à mídia que ele não estava disposto a fechar a porta para competir pixbet 365 original 2025.

"É uma grande chance que seja meu último French Open, mas se eu tivesse que dizer a você que é 100 por cento meu último French Open, desculpe, mas não posso porque não posso prever o que acontecerá - espero que você entenda", disse ele antes do torneio.
