The lightning roulette, also known as Lightning Roulette, is an exciting variation of the classic casino game of roulette. However, the big question is: how different is the lightning roulette from the traditional roulette?

In traditional roulette, players receive fixed payments according to the different types of bets. For example, a simple bet, such as red/black or even/odd, pays 1:1, while a dozen or column bet pays 2:1. In lightning roulette, things work a little differently.

In Lightning Roulette, in addition to regular bets, there are called "Lucky Numbers" and "Lucky Payouts". These are randomly selected roulette numbers each round and can offer payments much higher than those in the traditional versions of the game. The lucky numbers will have a payment of 50:1 to 500:1, depending on the luck, while other bets follow the same proportions of payment as the traditional roulette.

In summary, the lightning roulette offers the same range of betting options as the traditional roulette, but adds the exciting chance of winning much higher payments through the lucky numbers and lucky payouts.
