You can win real money playing blackjack online

At the start of each blackjack round, players place their bets, usually in a designated area on the table. The dealer deals two cards to each player and two cards to himself. One card is dealt face down and the other face up. Then, the dealer reveals the total value of his cards and checks to see if any player has a blackjack - a total of 21 with the first two cards.

If no player has a blackjack, the game continues with players having the opportunity to request more cards (hit) or stick with their current total (stand). If a player goes over 21, he is "bust" and loses his bet immediately. The dealer continues to serve the needs of each player until everyone has decided to hit or stand.

After all players have served their needs, the dealer reveals his hand and can choose to hit or stand. The dealer must hit if he has 17 or less and stand if he has 17 or more. If the dealer busts, all bets are paid.

If the dealer does not bust, the total value of his cards is compared to the total value of each player's cards. If a player has a higher total, he wins double his bet. If the player's total is equal to the dealer's, the bet is returned.
