Resumo: Trabalhando 50 slot casa durante as férias escolares

Working 50 slot at home can have its benefits, but the line between the personal and the professional blurs especially during school holidays. For working parents, this time is a moment of stress and extreme programming.

The traditional response is a programming packed with activities in distant corners of the city, where someone else can keep the children occupied. However, more and more parents try to work while keeping the children entertained between meetings.

O desafio da fadiga dos pais e dos filhos

The inevitable result is that we are not only exposed to being bored, but we also become "bored" vicariously through our children. A bored child can feel like a failure as a parent. Our task is to keep them stimulated, challenged or entertained? The scale of this failure is even higher, as it is now almost impossible to avoid distraction or entertainment.

As parents, it is easy to be a victim of emotional blackmail from a young unemployed child. But perhaps we should be more lenient with ourselves during these holidays. Maybe fatigue is not a failure as a parent, but simply one of the greatest gifts we can offer.

Aprender a lidar com o tédio

Boredom is an antidote to the currently dominant idea that parents have a duty to be responsible at all moments of their children's experience. Studies suggest that boredom is good for our mental health, as disconnection from activity or external stimulation gives the brain a chance to redefine itself.

Boredom is not unproductive. When people feel bored, parts of the brain light up that indicate engagement. In other words, the brain is looking for things to occupy itself. It is a chance to be creative. Without anything to occupy itself, the brain seeks novelty and invention.
