What is the end of HM2 support? It means there will be no updates or technical support for HM2 after December 31, 2024. HM2 users will be able to log-in and use the software but functionality such as the HUD and hand importing will be significantly impacted when poker sites release updates and/or add new game types.

2-7 (offsuit)\n\n A 2-7 offsuit hand is the worst hand to start with in Texas Hold 'Em poker because there are so few good options available to you: you have no straight draw, no flush draw, and even if you wind up with a pair of 7s or a pair of 2s, you're unlikely to have the best hand.

18 months ago, I helped a friend to change. We knew each other for more than a decade and we helped each other with poker 4 chips several times. Probably I helped for 10 hours. She had many skills and art to move. She had already hired transporters, but these things had not gone with us. So, I carried the majority of the poker 4 chips to my station wagon, and it was damaged.

Unfortunately, a screen was damaged during transport. I even forgot about it until I visited her recently, when she told me she had a budget to repair the screen and that we could split it, paying R$ 1,200 each. I asked her if the screen was worth it and she said that it was not important - this screen belongs to her son, who lives in Germany, and it is very special for him.

It was never stored in a safe at home and was in a storage room. I looked at it and it really seems to be a piece of junk, and it is not signed. She said that when it happened, I promised to help her fix it. I don't remember that conversation. She said that she would be happy to help her fix it on her own, but she would not pay. She didn't have the money for 18 months, so it is improbable that she would have committed to paying it.

For me, it seems that if you get help from a friend for free, there is no guarantee. It seems that she is afraid of damage. I was very shocked and I think that is a reason to end a friendship. What do you think?

Eleanor says:

Friends are not like commercial relationships. One is governed by what you can do for someone, the other by what you have to do. It is for this reason that bringing financial compensation for friends can make things really strange, like you and this screen, unfortunately.

You think that is a terrible way to treat a friend who did a favor. She should not be treated as a client now, asking her to compensate her losses, when she did not treat you like that before, paying for your work or having expectations met. In fact, she is probably maintaining a higher standard than a professional mover, because it seems that she wants reimbursement that is higher than the market value of the object.

On the other hand, she can think that friendship works in another way. Maybe a professional mover would not morally have to pay for a repair of a sentimental object, but you are friends. "If I had something important for you, I would feel terrible! I wanted to help."

Friendship, finances, responsibility. It is not amazing that people fight when we mix these worlds!

At the very least, she should recognize that this is not obvious. This should be a negotiation, not a punch in the face. There are important points on her side: how did she know it was sentimental? Why didn't she say so or transport it carefully?

You could make a counter-offer: "I am happy to help you fix it, or pay a smaller amount. But I don't think I should take this financial responsibility when I agreed to help." How she reacts will be a measure of the friendship. It can start to feel like enemies, with accusations and assuming the worst. In this case, this can be a natural point of closure. But if you can say that you don't want to disagree in a straightforward and friendly way, you will be able to get through this moment.

If you really want to save the friendship, it may be a good idea to ask what more this is about.

sobre (clichê, sei). Ela se sentiu cuidadosa com suas coisas? Ela desejaria que você parecesse mais magoado que isso aconteceu, não importa a culpa? Ela realmente extraña seu filho? Há todo tipo de coisas aqui que você poderia ajudá-la a se sentir "compensada" sem ter que entregar o dinheiro. Claro, isso só se você achar que essa amizade vale a torta de humildade. Você pode não. Ou, pelo menos, você pode não ser feliz poker 4 chips comê-lo sozinho.

Qualquer que seja a poker 4 chips decisão, aqui estão duas pequenas coisas. Provavelmente não vale a pena discordar sobre a conversa passada. Parece-me que você disse "Vou ajudar a consertá-lo", significando isso literalmente, e ela pensou que você queria dizer financeiramente. Talvez ninguém esteja poker 4 chips má-fé. Segundo, provavelmente não vale a pena apontar que a pintura é assinada, poker 4 chips armazenamento e assim por diante. As pessoas deixam as coisas que se importam coletarem poeira. Você não quer correr o risco de se comunicar "isso não deveria importar" quando ela está insistindo que é importante. Se você for sentimental sobre um objeto, perder realmente pode se sentir como perder o que ele representa.

Da mesma forma que você, não acho que você deveria pagar por isso. Claramente, ela não concorda. A pergunta é se ela pode ver o suficiente do seu lado para ainda ser amiga. Se ela puder ver isso como uma transação quase comercial, ela está dizendo o que você precisa saber.
