Israel: Shas Party Encourages Ultra-Orthodox Conscripts to Ignore Military Service

The ultra-orthodox Israeli Shas party urged Wednesday to possible recruits to ignore a call from the Israel Defense Forces, as the political divisions over the controversial issue showed signs of widening.

Ultra-orthodox Jews or Haredi have traditionally been exempt from military service to study Torah. But a Supreme Court ruling in June said the government must conscript ultra-orthodox of suitable age for military service, reversing a de facto exemption in force since the country's founding 76 years ago.

The measure sparked protests in the Haredi communities.

Shas described the military service calls as outrageous and added: "The great rabbis have instructed, categorically, that, from now on, since no new law has been promulgated that defines the status of students of the Yeshiva, we must not respond to any call or even to a call for the first order, and for that reason, do not present ourselves at the recruitment stations."

"Our duty now is to remain firm like a wall that cannot be toppled and to make it clear to the world that there is no force in the world that can succeed, God forbid, in disconnecting students from their Torah studies."

The Israel Defense Forces said this week it will begin issuing initial calls on Sunday to those designated for security service in the ultra-orthodox sector "for selection and evaluation processes in preparation for recruitment" for next year.

The Israel Defense Forces said it "works to recruit from all parts of this society in fulfillment of the obligation of conscription in the state of Israel, as the army of the people and in light of current operational needs, taking into account the challenges of security."

The announcement provoked more protests. Nine people were arrested Tuesday for blocking a highway.

Monday, senior army officials were assaulted by dozens of protesters, ultra-orthodox, who threw bottles and other objects after a meeting in Bnei Brak.

Israel's commander in chief, the head of the Israel Defense Forces, Major General David Zini, and the chief of staff, Major General Shay Tayeb, were attacked at the end of a meeting with the rabbi David Label, who has been working in the last few days to establish an ultra-orthodox division in the Israel Defense Forces.

The delicate coalition government of Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu depends on two parties, Haredi - United Torah Judaism and Shas - to govern. Netanyahu has been trying to advance legislation through the Israeli parliament, the Knesset, that would codify in law an exemption from the draft law for men.
